

Princeton Theological Seminary and the Princeton Community
Celebrate Black History Month February 2013

LET FREEDOM RING

150th Year Anniversary of the signing of the Emancipation Proclamation

The Association of Black Seminarians presents:

Black History Month

Panel Discussion on “For Such a Time As This: Saving A Generation through Reviving Morality in Media”

Thursday, February 19, 6:00–9:00 p.m.
Stuart Hall, Room 6

“Bezalel Rising: Hollywood, Storytelling, and Culture Making Communities of Faith” 6:30–7:30 p.m.

Dr. Gary Stratton

lead faculty for Worldview Formation, Christian Ministry Department, Bethel University; senior editor, TwoHandedWarriors.com;
theology/worldview consultant, Bezalel Hollywood

Panel Discussion, 7:40–9:00 p.m.

Nicole Heyward
CEO of Creative Classic Management

Kobie Brown principal at The Kobie Chronicles, LLC;
business affairs
administrator at Sony Music Entertainment

Jeremy Bardwell
director of Youth with a Mission

Soloman Starr
Christian rapper and D.Min. candidate at New Brunswick
Theological Seminary

Winsome Sinclair casting director

Robyn Greene Arrington
senior director of programming and production at TV One

Join us at lunch for the Chat & Chew Lunch Discussion “Produced by Faith”
12:00–2:00 p.m., Main Lounge, Mackay Campus Center

DeVon Franklin
senior vice president, production, Columbia Tristar Pictures, and author

This event is open to the public.

Also sponsored by the Office of Multicultural Relations, the Office of Student Relations, the Student Government Association, and the Black History Month Committee at Princeton University.

For more information, please contact ptsblackseminarians@gmail.com.